INTERNATIONAL TOURISM SUCCESS STORY - MALDIVES

The Maldives, an Indian Ocean island archipelago practically synonymous with romance, normally sees north of 1.7 million visitors per year. In 2020, it had around 500,000. And despite the significant decrease, it marks one of the most successful tourism stories amid the pandemic. The Maldives' heavy reliance on ultra-luxury resorts also worked in its favor when it came to testing and social distancing. For example, some high-end properties conduct additional in-resort Covid testing as an added layer of protection against the virus's spread.

FUTURE OF TOURISM IN POST COVID-19

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR TRANSFORMATION

Mr. Mohammed Ashraf B.A
Faculty, Dept of Tourism Studies

Global tourism suffered its worst year on record in 2020, with international arrivals dropping by 74%, according to the latest data from the World Tourism Organization (UNWTO). Destinations worldwide welcomed 1 billion fewer international arrivals in 2020 than in the previous year due to an unprecedented fall in demand and widespread travel restrictions. This compares with the 4% decline recorded during the 2009 global economic crisis. Considering the fact that tourism is one of the largest and fastest-growing industries globally, a huge effort should be undertaken for tourism to reach back to its core capacities in the present situation.

The unprecedented COVID-19 pandemic crisis has significantly disrupted tourism and hospitality sector, but it has also encouraged new trends and innovations in business process and development to adapt to the “new normal,” according to new research.

DOMESTIC TRAVEL IS A NEW EXOTIC DESTINATION

According to Bronner and De Hoog's research, after an economic crisis, consumers adopt several attitudes: saving, new ways of spending money, changing travel planning strategies, and changing consumer practices. Such a change could be an opportunity to revitalize domestic tourism and build customer loyalty.

As per Airbnb's latest travel trends for the upcoming year, 56% prefer a domestic or local destination versus just 21% who want to visit someplace international and farther away destinations, further travel by car is the only means of travel that draws majority interest, beating air travel by a margin. In the latest Customer Behaviour Report 2021 from Wego, identified approximately a 50% increase in searches for domestic destinations.

World Travel and Tourism Council (WTTTC) report on Future of Travel and Tourism favours sentiments towards domestic and regional travel. 84% of Chinese travellers favoured domestic travel after the peak of the crisis, 69% in France, 68% in Spain, 63% in USA and 58% in rest of the world.

In the first phase, we may witness people going out for a short drive in their personal vehicles. In the second phase, this will transition to weekend trips followed by inter-city or regional travel in the third phase.

CLEANLINESS IS TOP OF MIND

Cleanliness has always been important, but COVID-19 has emphasized its importance. New standard requirements for cleaning accommodation facilities are going to be highly regulated. Elevator buttons, door handles, furniture, switches, remote controls, and other frequently touched objects are expected to be adequately cleaned and sanitized after every use. Face masks, hand sanitizer and other hygiene equipment should always be available for guests in need.

A recent Expedia survey of US travelers shows that more travelers are listing health and safety (72%) and avoiding crowds (68%) as top concerns over budget (60%) during trip planning.

The latest report of Airbnb also signifies the shift in tourists' expectation, about one third (32%) want the "vast majority of people" at a destination to also be vaccinated in order to consider traveling there; 30% will want testing to be available there; and 29% will want to have urgent care available.

ACCESS TO RELIABLE INFORMATION IS KEY FOR DECISION MAKING

In light of growing health & safety concerns, travelers will increasingly turn to authorities they trust for timely and accurate information ahead of and during their travels. Tourists are expected to know about quarantine measures, pandemic levels at the destination, and understand the logistics and potential restrictions during travel to take safety precautions.

Joe Richardson, President and CEO of Auto Club Group, noted that travel providers and destinations alike will need to “give travellers as much information as possible to provide peace of mind”, with any inconsistencies eroding trust and confidence. As per the report of Expedia, user-generated content, such as ratings and reviews, are hugely influential in trip planning, with research finding that 95% of travelers read online reviews before booking a trip. Word of mouth marketing will be a valuable currency for destinations recognised as safe, with 92% of consumers admitting they trust recommendations from friends and family above other forms of advertising.

FLEXIBILITY AND PERSONALIZATION WILL LEAD THE MARKET

Flexibility will allow the industry to adapt to changes demanded by the situation and could be the difference between businesses that go under and those who survive the calamity. Going forward, while airlines are expected to relax their usual rules and regulations circling cancellation, rescheduling, and refunds. The trend is anticipated to favour business travel that often requires real-time decision-making, ticket booking, cancellation, or rescheduling. Flexible travel booking, refund policies with reduced or no penalties for cancellation, and better customer support will be the basic expectations of passengers traveling after COVID-19.

According to Skyscanner, if restrictions change suddenly, it is important for passengers to have the flexibility to adjust their plans. To help with this, many airlines are now adopting flexible booking policies so that passengers can plan their trips now and remain unaffected by any later changes in travel restrictions.

As travel restarts in some parts of the world, limited connectivity and weak consumer confidence, the unknown evolution of the pandemic, and the economic downturn's impact present unprecedented challenges to the tourism sector. Harnessing the innovations by tapping the tourism and hospitality market trends could be the front and centre in tourism recovery.

People don't take trips, trips take people.” – John Steinbeck

ATMA NIRBHAR BHARATH ABHIYAAN:

Booster Dose for Indian Economy and Tourism Industry.

'Impact of Covid 19 on the world economy is innumerable. World's biggest industries like Food processing, Oil and Gas, Automobile Manufacturing, Telecommunication, Construction etc were severely hit due to pandemics'

The outbreak of Novel Corona Virus - Covid 19 during early 2020 is considered the worst situation for the economy since time memorable. Though the virus and its impacts were identified in December 2019, its severity to the world was known during February - March 2020.

References in history about the impacts of pandemics on human health are available, Russian flu, Spanish flu, Asian flu are the best examples. These pandemics are being defeated by human beings by taking collective measures like medication, precautions, etc. Corona during the 21st century is the new addition to the list of pandemics. This virus hit the entire globe without any discrimination like Race, Gender, Color, Geographical boundaries, wealth, etc.

Mr. Nagaraja Sharma. U
Faculty, Dept. of Tourism Studies

The impact of Covid 19 on the world economy is innumerable. World's biggest industries like Food processing, Oil and Gas, Automobile Manufacturing, Telecommunication, Construction, etc were severely hit due to pandemics.

Agriculture is the central pillar of the Indian economy and serves the food consumption needs of the whole country. Agriculture is the source of livelihood or 58% of the country's population and 44% of the workforce.

During these challenging times, governments' intervention to support everyone from the ordinary person to the industrialist, local shopkeeper, mall owners, etc is very important to maintain the tempo in a country's economy

The exemplary role played by India in the global fight against COVID-19 has been recognized and appreciated widely. The Union Minister of Health & Family, Welfare Dr. Harsh Vardhan, has been elected as Chair of the Executive Board of World Health Organization for the year 2020-21. During the 147th session of the Executive Board, this took place in a meeting that was held virtually. He takes over from Dr. Hiroki Nakatani of Japan.

Civil Aviation

Policy Highlights

- Efficient airspace management: Restrictions on utilization of the Indian Air Space will be eased so that civilian flying becomes more efficient. This is estimated to allow optimal airspace utilization, reduce fuel use and time, and save about Rs 1,000 crore per year for the aviation sector.
- Public-Private Partnership (PPP) model for airports: World-class airports will be built through the PPP model. In the first round, the Airport Authority of India (AAI) has awarded three airports (Ahmedabad, Lucknow, and Mangaluru) out of six bids for operation and maintenance on a PPP basis. Six more airports have been identified for the 2nd and 3rd rounds of the bidding process each. The private sector investment in these 12 airports is expected to be around Rs 13,000 crore.

CASHLESS PAYMENT: IS GOING TO MAKE A REVOLUTION IN TOURISM INDUSTRY

"CONSUMERS EXPECT A SAFE CONVENIENT AND AFFORDABLE GLOBALIZED PAYMENT PLATFORM"- LUCY PENG

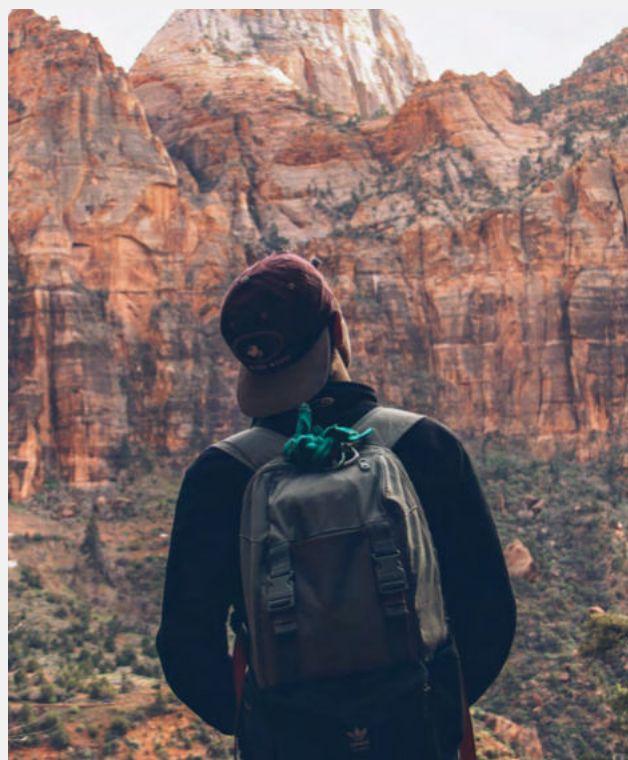

REZMIYA FIDA, II MBA (TTM)

It only stands to reason that the travel industry needs to evolve in line with the technology needs of its customers. Since the corona pandemic, customers are more careful to touch public devices, which created some new needs. One area of interest involves the ways in which travelers can now pay for a reservation or other services. Contactless payments have become increasingly prevalent within the travel and tourism sector. This arises from the simple fact that a growing number of devices support such technology. Any payment system that displays a sideways Wi-Fi logo is equipped to handle wireless payments..

another interesting development is that many travel-related firms are beginning to develop bespoke smartphone applications that support wireless payment options. These can be downloaded by a client at no charge; saving time and confusion during the booking process. Many applications will also contain links to proprietary offers as well as a means to navigate to the website in question for additional information. Not only are contactless payments great options from a logistical perspective, but your firm can likewise employ them as effective marketing tools. However, contactless payments will satisfy many other health worries once the pandemic has finally run its course. Travelers are likely to be quite wary of traditional forms of payment for years into the future. Therefore, companies that are able to adopt this type of technology in advance will undoubtedly enjoy a competitive edge.

As mentioned previously, credit and debit cards can likewise be connected to a smartphone by downloading a dedicated application provided by the institution in question. They can then process a transaction, such as securing a hotel reservation with a simple tap on the screen. Certain types of smartwatches are also beginning to accept this contactless payment method and it is therefore slated to become quite popular in the near future. And this change is definitely going to make a lot of changes in the industry.

As technology continues to evolve, even more properties will take advantage of all that it has to offer. This is why it is a good idea to offer such an option to the guests. While there is certainly nothing wrong with traditional approaches to customer service, providing clients with even more payment options will ensure a pleasant and rewarding experience over time.

COVID-19 AND TOURISM

Due to Covid-19, loss of international tourists range from 850 million to 1.1 billion.

GREESHNA.C II MBA (TTM)

Huge footfalls have been facing by the tourism industry in the past year and more due to the Novel Coronavirus (Covid-19). The Covid - 19 has affected all over the world and all industries globally, which slow down the growth of industries. Tourism was one of the greatest industries leading in the markets till the pandemic came. The tourism industry came at a zero point due to the coronavirus spread; the countries have stopped receiving and sending their people to other countries. This affected the Tourism industry very badly.

In 2020 the Tourism industry was stuck in a pandemic and people were trying to overcome the situations with many pieces of research on the possibility to bring back the industry. The most affected was the hotel industry. Many online conferences and lectures came out with the strengthening of the tourism industry and the ways to improve the situation.

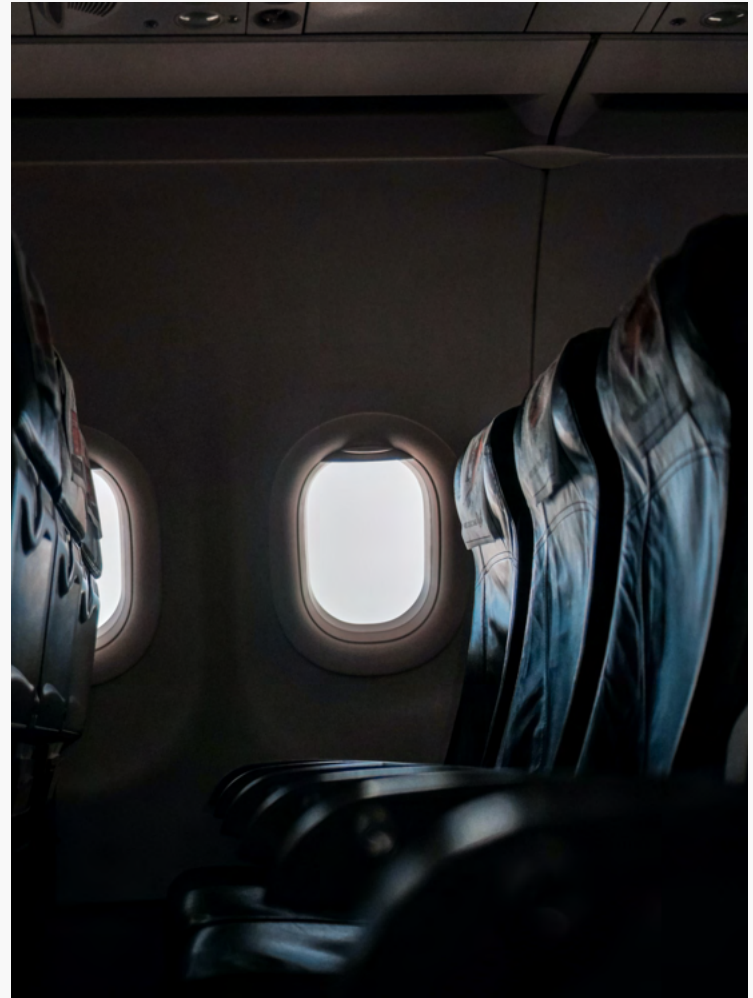

DID YOU KNOW?

"Facts about Indian clothing is that Indian sari - (6-yard long attire) dates back to at least 100 BC"

Security and income were some factors that made people travel and the same factors have made the people not to travel in this pandemic as people were not having any income as the circulation of money became slow, and also the travellers felt insecurity in travelling. It takes time for finding safety measures like sanitizing, wearing masks and gloves, etc.

In 2019, at the starting of Covid-19 itself, there was a huge footfall in the arrival of international tourists, like in Goa the number of tourists arrival becomes peak in the season of December – January as people visiting to celebrate Christmas and New Year. But the number of tourists in Goa was very less compared to the past few years. Countries like Spain, Italy have restricted people from travelling on those days which affected Tourism in India. In India, it is estimated that there was a down of 78% in International Tourists. The aviation industry also faced many challenges in those days which made an impact on export and import.

Be fast, have no regrets... If you need to be right before you move, you will never win

MR. MIKE RYAN, EPIDEMIOLOGIST AT WHO

In 2020 October, the tourism industry has started functioning in the domestic level, which made a growth in the domestic tourism. Many people have started travelling within the countries with the safety measures. The UNWTO tries to bring up tourism through the #Restart Tourism. The UNWTO insisted people to travel safe and many programs were cancelled so as to ensure safety of the people. In between the covid also UNWTO aims at achieving the 2030 Sustainable goals. They have taken initiative to make people aware about the importance of responsible behavior and international coordination and taken tourism recovery as a challenge.

Due to Covid-19, the loss of international tourists ranges from 850 million to 1.1 billion. The export revenues made a loss of US$ 910 billion to US$ 1.2 trillion, 100 to 120 million peoples jobs were at risk. In order to make a safe and seamless journey certain guidelines were set up like giving health regulation, clear and evidence-based protocols and information, data sharing on the basis of consent and applicable regulations, non-discrimination of travellers, digital transformation, measures taken in necessary situations. By 2021, Tourism is getting recovering and many tourism sports started operating, tourists started travelling with safety measures and events have started to operate. With the introduction of the Covid-19 vaccine, people got more confidence and many have started travelling internationally also.

The Entrepreneurship Development Programme got commenced by 4:30pm (IST) dated 5th April 2021. The Master of the Ceremony Sourav Suresh (MCom second year student) initially requested everyone to rise up for the University Anthem. After the University Anthem, the master of ceremony invited Prof. Dr. T. Mallikarjunappa (HOD, Department of Commerce and International Business) to welcome and introduce the guests. Prof. Dr. T. Mallikarjunappa warmly welcomed the Chief Guest, K Vinod Narayanan (Managing Director, PVN Industries, Kannur; Former President, The North Malabar Chamber of Commerce, Kannur), Dr. Yelloji Rao K Mirajkar (Former Senior Technical Associate, Global Fragrance R&D Division, Colgate-Palmolive Company, USA; Convener – Global Indian Scientists and Technocrats Forum, USA; Member, Advisory Council, Hindu University of America, USA; Member of National Team, Hindu Swayamsevak Sangh, USA), Prof Dr V Balachandran (Dean, School of Business Studies, CUK), and all the students and faculty members to the programme. He very precisely explained about the rich profile of the guests. Finally he requested all the students to make use of this opportunity to the best of their advantage.

Next the master of the ceremony invited K Vinod Narayanan for inauguration of the programme. He said that entrepreneurship development programs are very important in the current competitive world and said that entrepreneurship should be inculcated in students by the educational institutions. By explaining the growth of small enterprises, he gave the example of how Baiju Raveendran (founder of BYJU'S App) who had made history by growing his business through the use of technology. He emphasized that entrepreneurs have to put hard work to succeed and wished the programme all the success and urged every one to listen to Dr Yelloji Rao K Mirajkar who will bring the American and Global perspective to the topic. He also pointed out that the use of technology is very important for business growth and India ranks second only to China in mobile manufacturing technology. He added that today there are more opportunities for entrepreneurs in different fields and requested everyone to make best use of the opportunity.

The master of the ceremony next welcomed invited Prof Dr. V Balachandran for felicitation. After addressing the dignitaries he expressed his happiness for being a part of the event. He appreciated Prof. T Mallikarjunappa for organizing the programme. He also mentioned about the professional development program conducted by the MBA department in the previous day. He explained about the numerous opportunities offered by the government to the youngsters in India for starting new ventures. He finally concluded his words by offering all success to the programme.

Next, the master of the ceremony invited Dr.Yelloji Rao for the keynote address. Dr.Yelloji Rao expressed his sincere gratitude to Prof. T. Mallikarjunappa and all other dignitaries for inviting him to the event. By 5:00 pm, the resource person officially started his session by talking about start-ups. He explained the steps in forming a start-up. He also mentioned the ‘dream team’ that is very much essential for a start-up. He said that problem, solution, and revenue are the important things that are needed to form and run the start-up. He also mentioned the significance of funding in a start-up where, funding includes various stages which include pre-seed-stage funding, seed-stage funding, early-stage funding and late-stage funding. He also said that human capital, infrastructure, raw materials, etc, are the other essentials for a start-up. He explained about the investors and what are the criteria they look for in a start-up to invest.

Later he also mentioned Theranos Company, its initial stages, and how its license was lost because of its false claims and lack of credibility. Then he also gave an example of Crest toothpaste which launched a 30 seconds commercial communicating hefty claims that it will remove stain leaving a protective layer. This toothpaste was tested as per the procedures of the commercial, data was documented and colour measurement and visual ranking by panellists were given. As the data contradicted the commercial's claims, a legal order was passed to stop airing the commercial.

Then he further discussed the government's influence on the success of start-ups. He said that we only acknowledge the entrepreneur's role in the start-up. He said that the government also had encouraged a culture of innovation and research in the field of start-ups. He further added that the government had helped to provide funding for start-ups as it believes that "as you grow your country will grow". He also pointed out the incentives that government provides for the start-up.

Next, he drew the audience's attention towards the 11 benefits provided under Start-up India and also added that a 10000 crore rupees fund has been set up by the government to provide funds to the start-up as venture capital. Then, he gave more insights into how the government takes action to save companies from the anti-competitive monopoly tactics of companies like Amazon, Apple, Facebook, and Google. Then he also said about the Chinese government's steps that triggered about a $140 billion decline in the market value of Ma's Alibaba.

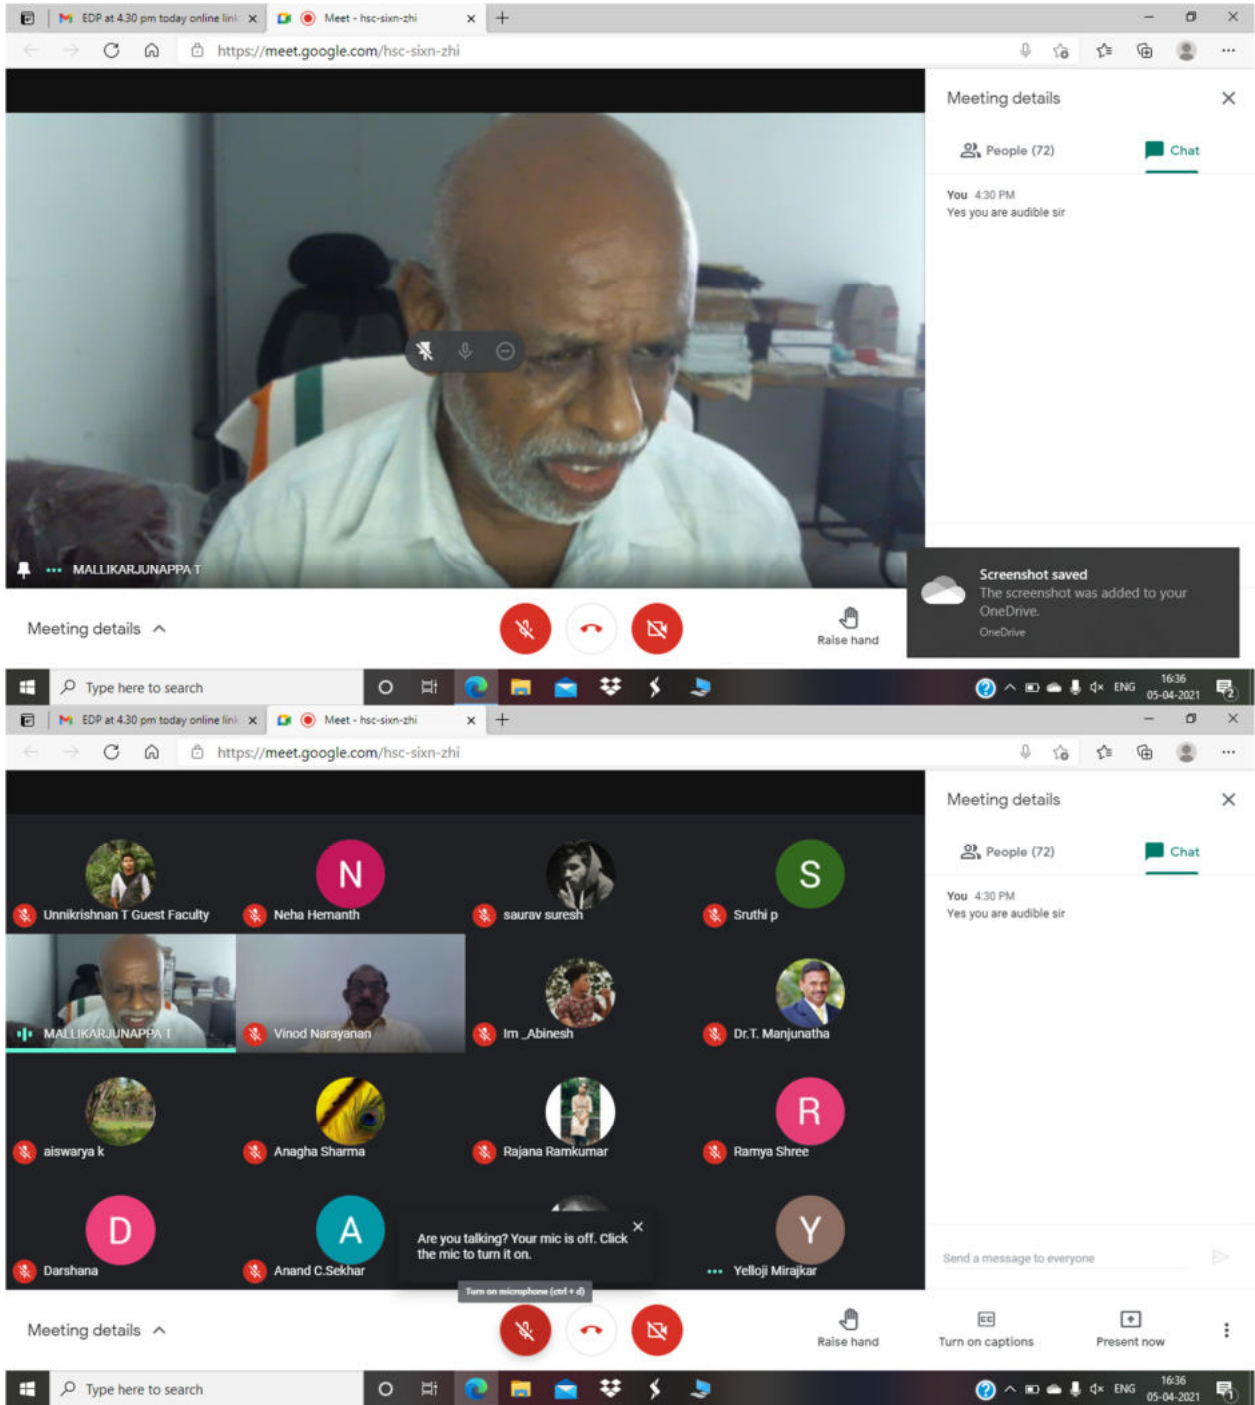

Later he discussed the struggles of manufacturing industries during different crisis times and how they survived. He pointed out the case of BASF Company and its restructuring plan. He added that most of the companies have emergency funds to address their emergencies. Then he talked about the Colgate Company which is headquartered in New York and how they continue to be successful even after two centuries. The company adhered to quality and never compromised in the taste. He further added about the wide range of products offered by Colgate which includes home care, pet nutrition, and personal care apart from oral care. Then he elaborated on the case study of Paul Therapeutics. He pointed out how Astra Zeneca offered to buy the company and why Paul Therapeutics rejected the offer and accepted it later. Paul Therapeutics had a grand vision and their business plan was to expand the scope as a combination or as a triple combination drug. Later he spoke about the Clinical Research Services Company which was affected by the Great Recession in 2008. With this, he concluded his presentation, and the session was opened for interaction.

During the question-answer session, Professor V Balachandran enquired about the chances of getting success in achieving the desired return for Venture Capital and Angel capital investors as both parties expect higher returns. Dr. Yelloji Rao pointed out that the chances of getting success in Angel investments are comparatively lower as compared to Venture Capital and he stressed the need for extreme compassion and commitment towards the respective projects to increase the chances of getting success. He highlighted that the power of convincing the projects and how unique it is as compared to other competitors is the need of the hour. He further added on the situation of patent infringement and fines duly made by corporate companies like Google and Microsoft.

Next, Priyatha Vijayagopalan (First-year MCom student), made a query on how to meet failures backed up by the statement of low chances for success in Angel and Venture Capital and the need for a mentor. For this Dr.Yelloji answered highlighting the importance of acquiring experience rather than emphasizing failure. Furthermore, he stated the necessity of having a mentor that would result in getting dynamic paths to reach success in a short period.

As a continuation to this session, Prof. Mallikarjunappa proposed a question that what is there in the USA that offers entrepreneurial success that is not offered in India. Dr.Yelloji Rao answered through his own experience. He also mentioned the opportunities and the cultural differences that exist between India and the USA. Next the Master of Ceremony invited Ms. Dheera K R (Guest faculty, Department of Commerce and International Business) to deliver vote of thanks. The programme reached to its end by 6 .19 pm (IST).

He officially welcomed all the faculty members of School of Business Studies and enthusiastic student participants. Dr Koyippally Joseph, Associate Professor and Placement Coordinator of CUKerala felicitated by emphasizing the significance of such training initiatives for the students of CUKerala in building and developing their career. He had conducted more than 1000 programs in the last eight years (recorded in Website) and authored 12 books on motivation and development. He opened the session with the famous slogans in Bhagavat Gita explaining the role of Krishna in driving Arjuna to his goals. He concluded with a situation from Bible which reminds us that ‘we will get what we want but may not be in the desired way’. The session was highly inspiring and motivating as it reminded the participants to gear up positively to their goals by making the best use of time and resources available.

The session was followed by an interaction of resource person and participants where, managing the career hurdles, lockdown boredom and demotivation issues, managing the career expectation of freshers were discussed. The participants thanked the resource person for an inspiring session.
